

KAISER LIKELY TO OUST VON JAGOW

Foreign Minister's Recent Acts
Are Believed to Have Incensed the Emperor.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 8.—In parliamentary circles at Berlin it is considered highly probable that the resignation of Foreign Minister von Jagow will be announced at an early date.

It is said that two recent acts of the foreign minister have greatly incensed the Kaiser and his ministers. These are the Austrian note to the United States and the charge made in the Belgian Gray Book, recently published, that Germany proposed to divide the Belgian Congo some time before the war began.

Under Secretary of Foreign Affairs Zimmermann probably will succeed Dr. von Jagow.

Gottlieb von Jagow was called in 1913 to the German foreign office from Rome, where he was German ambassador, at the personal insistence of Emperor William. He accepted the summons with openly acknowledged regret, amounting almost to insubordination, fearful of the post, no doubt, because it had been the stumbling block in the careers of many promising German statesmen.

At the time Herr von Jagow was almost a novice in the diplomatic field. He had been attached to German embassies in several European capitals, but had served as ambassador for only four years at Rome. He had, however, given proof of high ability during the troublesome period of the Italo-Turkish war when Austria and Italy were on anything but friendly terms.

The place he assumed as chief of Germany's foreign relations department was perhaps the most difficult in the government. This was true and had been true for some years, because of German ambitions for territorial aggrandizement and commercial supremacy, a fact which made the foreign minister the constant butt of criticism. Up to the time of the war, however, he managed his office with considerable success. When the war began there were frequent rumors that the Kaiser would displace him.

During the last year Herr von Jagow has been one of the leading statesmen of the world. He has probably signed more important international documents than any of his predecessors in the same office.

Italian Dirigible Caught.

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—An official statement by the German government says: "At midnight of August 5 the Italian airship Citta da Jost while endeavoring to approach Pola, was brought down by shrapnel before it could do any damage. All the crew, consisting of three naval officers, one mechanic, and two men, were taken prisoner. The airship was taken into Pola." Italy has officially admitted the loss of a dirigible near Pola.

Declares Ragtime Made Him a Bandit

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—"Ragtime made me a bandit. It lured me away from my law studies. The penny dance ripped me. After that there were the girls and the gang and I became a bandit."

So asserts Roy McIntee, boy bandit who studied law by day and robbed by night, now in a cell at the city jail.

"I was studying law when a friend came along one day and took me to a penny dance," says McIntee. "There I met girls. To make a hit I had to buy. To get money to buy, I turned bandit. Then I tried to reform and went back to my books, but the ragtime thumped in my brain and I went over the same course again."

Equine Traits Don't Go Before This Justice

AKRON, Ohio, Aug. 8.—Alleged hereditary traits in a horse were held insufficient evidence to establish its identity by a jury in Judge Ahern's court.

Henry Arnecke sued Clayton Adams for the possession of a horse Adams had purchased at a sale for $300. Arnecke claimed the horse was the same that had been stolen from his stable. To prove it he exhibited the stolen horse's mother.

Both horses had a peculiarity of lifting a left hind foot when they stood. Arnecke claimed it was a hereditary trait. The jury, however, awarded the animal to Adams.

TWO SHOT DOWN AT KENTUCKY ELECTIONS

Former Congressman Stanley Is Democratic Nominee as Bullets Fly in Breathitt.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 8.—Breathitt county has had a revival of election-day feudism, and two men are dead and one seriously wounded, today.

Mountain factions divided at the polls yesterday over the election of a county judge. Grover Blanton shot and killed Martin Clemens. Elihu Allen killed Blanton. As he fell, mortally wounded, Blanton shot his assailant, and Allen may die.

Election-day feud fights have long been associated with "bloody Breathitt," but an improvement had been noted in recent years with the passing of some of the old-time feud leaders. Yesterday's affair, however, had all the "trimmings" of the feud of fact and fiction, and reminded one of the days when rifles were always brought to the polling places.

Former Congressman Stanley is the Democratic nominee today for governor. He is a local option supporter, and his nomination is regarded as an anti-prohibition victory. He defeated H. V. McChesney, avowed prohibitionist, and Lieutenant Governor McDermott, a local optionist.

E. P. Morrow, Republican, and Fred J. Drexler, Progressive, were the other gubernatorial nominees. Stanley's majority is estimated at 20,000, and his election is considered probable.

Wilson's Son-in-Law Goes to Newfoundland

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of President Wilson, has left on the steamship Florizel for St. John's, Newfoundland, to attend the convention next week of the International Grenfell Association. Mrs. Sayre remains at Cornish, N. H., with her father.

The Florizel carried several other delegates to the convention, including Dr. William MacAusland, the New England representative, and D. Raymond Noyes, the delegate from New York. Dr. MacAusland will go from the convention to Battle Harbor, Labrador, for a series of surgical operations in the service of the association.

Mud Saved His Life.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 8.—Eddie Musick escaped death when his biplane plunged 100 feet to earth at Venice, because he was buried neck-deep in a slimy bog in the middle of the aviation field. The way in which his machine fell would have dashed him to instant death, if he had not landed in the mud. The plane is a total wreck, except for the motor.

Crap Game Shows Him Use of Banks

Boston Skeptic Had Big Roll
When He Struck Hartford,
But Now—

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 8.—David Coulter, of Boston, came down into the country early this week to view the rural beauties of Hartford. As he told the police this evening, he never had use for banks, though now he frets for the time when he will have something to push across to the receiving teller.

He was broken when he struck town, and his roll of $1,100 was mostly in $50 bills, which looked artistic when he was paying for his drinks.

An affable stranger learned that Coulter liked a bit of gambling, and it required a scant thirty minutes in a crap game to reduce Coulter's bank roll to small change. Then it took him another half hour to assemble the fact that he hadn't won a single pass.

He was unable to give the police the slightest clue as to where the game had been played, though he did find a bartender who vouched for the previous existence of a big bank roll.

PRESS CLUB TO SEE FILMS ON DEFENSE

Hudson Maxim's Story of "Defenseless America," Will Be

Members of the National Press Club and their guests will see a moving picture presentation of Hudson Maxim's story of "Defenseless America," on the roof of the club Tuesday evening. Women accompanied by members will be admitted to the roof. The film story consists of eight reels, and is called "The Battle Cry of Peace," and was written by Commodore J. Stuart Blackton, who took the cue from the Maxim theory that America can be invaded and conquered by a foreign foe.

The Press Club's entertainment committee announces that during the summer moving pictures will be shown on the roof garden every Tuesday and Thursday night. Next Thursday evening one reel of the "movie" show will be devoted to pictorial representations of some of the active members of the club who recently posed for the "movie man."

Was Such a Fine Man, But the Police Got Him

SYRACUSE, Aug. 8.—John Plazek, late of Westfield, Mass., had a very trying half hour, when, very much against his will, he met his wife at police headquarters.

This is what the police of Westfield say about John:

He took $100 from his wife. He deserted his wife and six-month-old baby. He eloped with another man's wife. He kidnapped an eighteen-month-old child.

Outside of these little indiscretions, says Chief Flouret, of Westfield, John is a fine fellow, sober, upright and industrious.
